

Goahead Mission Nepal Project

Dear Respected Brothers and sisters

Greeting from Go-ahead Mission Project –Nepal

Winter for Nepalese is all about biting cold and life frozen all around. In the last three years alone, at least 275 people have died due to severe cold. The impact of winter is much severe in the Nepal belt where thick blanket of cold waves grip the lives of millions of people year after year.

Enveloped in mist and dust particles, the lingering layers of cold wave result in the marked cooling of air. “To predict the exact occurrence of cold wave has always been a huge challenge. However, cold wave is an annual occurrence.

The annual death toll and its impact on human lives have clearly proven the dangers posed by cold waves over the years. In Nepal region due to extreme poverty in many places, children are not able to have proper warm clothes to protect them from severe cold because of that among the death; the number of children is reported to be high.
